Afghan Refugee Support to Schools Goals

- 1) To ensure Afghan newcomer students' high academic performance and successful school integration.
- 1) To strengthen the skills, knowledge, and competence of Afghan newcomer parents, schools, and community-based organizations to support Afghan newcomer students.

Eligible Beneficiaries

“Refugee” means an individual who is outside their country of nationality or habitual residence, and is unable or unwilling to seek protection of that country due to a well-founded fear of persecution based on race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular social group, or political opinion. For purposes of this Contract, the term “refugee” also refers only to Afghanistan Supplemental Appropriations Act (ASA)-eligible population whose eligibility date is on or after July 31, 2021:

- (1) Refugees from Afghanistan
- (2) Asylees from Afghanistan
- (3) Afghan Special Immigrants Visas (SIV) Holders
- (4) Afghan Special Immigrant Conditional Permanent Residents
- (4) Afghan parolees with “SI/SQ” coding, Afghan Humanitarian Parolees, and other ASA populations paroled between July 31, 2021 and September 30, 2023
- (6) Other ASA-eligible populations deemed eligible by ORR

Starting Again—Stories of Refugee Youth

By School's Out Washington and Jill Freidberg at Corrugated Film/From 2011

With funding from the Refugee School Impact Grant (RSIG), School's Out Washington partnered with documentary filmmaker Jill Freidberg of Corrugated Films to produce a film chronicling the lives of refugee youth in Washington State. The film highlights four youth from Burma, Bhutan, Russia, and Somalia. In their own voices, each youth shares stories, experiences, struggles, and successes about life before and after resettling in the United States. The youth speak candidly about the situations that brought their families here, their initial resettlement experience, and ongoing challenges as their families adjust to life in the United States. With funding from the Refugee School Impact Grant (RSIG), School's Out Washington partnered with documentary filmmaker Jill Freidberg of Corrugated Films to produce a film chronicling the lives of refugee youth in Washington State. The film highlights four youth from Burma, Bhutan, Russia, and Somalia.

In their own voices, each youth shares stories, experiences, struggles, and successes about life before and after resettling in the United States. The youth speak candidly about the situations that brought their families here, their initial resettlement experience, and ongoing challenges as their families adjust to life in the United States.

They also discuss their hopes and their excitement about opportunities that have been presented to them. Youth were filmed at school, home, afterschool activities, and community events. Youth also contributed footage that they filmed themselves.
