Tips on Asking Clients for Immigration Information
Tips on Asking Clients for Immigration Information

Some clients may be hesitant to provide information or documentation of their immigration status.

• Clearly explain why the documentation is needed and how it will be used.

• Talk about the Release of Information form and client’s informed consent.

• Listen with compassion to the client’s concerns around sharing information.

• Remember: Any frustration is about the client’s background and historical experience and is not a reflection of you.
